

How pre - cious is your un - fail - ing love, O

God: the child - ren of earth shall find re - fuge be - neath the sha - dow of your wings.

Your love, O Lord, extends throughout the heavens,
your faithfulness to the skies;
your righteousness stands like the mighty mountains,
your justice plumbs deepest seas.
From you creation draws its life
and in you all things living return to their rest.

Within your house you feast us in abundance,
the hungry rest, satisfied;
you quench our thirst with water from your fountain,
from streams of life and delight.
Maintain your love to those who know you,
be constant to those who stay true to your word.