Give to your King your judge - ment, O God:
give to the King's son your love of right- eous- ness.

1 Kings from the east and wise men from distant shores
kneel down before him: King among the kings.
From near and far, through ways deep and weather sharp,
weary and footsore each their tribute brings.

2 He will defend the needy who cry for help:
from rich oppressors, set their victims free.
He will redeem the poor and deliver them:
precious before his eyes their blood shall be.

3 Long may the King live; for ever may he live!
To him our deepest treasures let us bring.
May all his people's prayer rise unceasingly morning till night-time bless him as we sing:

4 Praise to our God, creator of time and space;
Praise to the Son, through whom the world was made;
Praise to the Spirit, giver of light and grace:
God, Three in One, in majesty arrayed.
